(Most defined benefit pension plans have early retirement provisions that allow an employee to retire early with full unreduced benefits if they complete a specific number of years of service. By doing this the company is subsidizing a large portion of the employee's pension by eliminating the actuarial adjustment (the difference in the amount of monthly benefit an employee would receive at normal retirement age verses an early retirement age if there is no subsidy - Example: An employee could receive $1,000 per month at age 65, but if he/she elects to retire at age 55 he/she would receive $500 per month for life if they had not completed the required number of years of service to receive the unreduced benefit of $1,000 per month) per month).
